Iron Horse Bridge Pedestrian Overcrossing Project

Contra Costa County Public Works Dept.

Treat Boulevard and Jones Road Closure Planned

The new Iron Horse Pedestrian Bridge will be installed over Treat Boulevard in the coming weeks. The entire intersection of Treat and Jones will be shut down during the Bridge erection operation.

This work is being performed at night in order to accommodate PG&E and East Bay MUD Power Shutdown Requirements, and traffic concerns. The PG&E Shutdown will not cause power outages at the buildings in the Treat/Jones area.

Project Purpose and Description:

This project will construct a pedestrian overcrossing over Treat Boulevard in the Pleasant Hill BART area. The overcrossing will provide for pedestrian and bicycle safety when crossing the heavily trafficked Treat Boulevard. The bridge will be constructed of structural steel members in an arch formation with suspender cables as shown in the artist's rendition above. The bridge will also link discontinuous sections of the Iron Horse Trail.

Bridge erection is scheduled to take 2 to 3 weekends to complete. During the bridge erection operation, Treat Boulevard will be closed from Oak Road to Cherry Lane. Jones Road will also be closed from the BART station to 200' South of Treat Blvd. A detour plan will be in place during this closure.
